It is a bit hard to gauge our league as of right now. The teams with the most returning are Ballard, Gilbert, Boone, and Carlisle. Everyone else had a bit of turnover. Gilbert returns a handful of solid players but lost their leading scorer. Bondurant returns their point guard but lost some other important pieces and only played 5-6 guys most nights! ADM will be good again but probably not quite as good as last year. Lorensen is back for them and will take quite a few more shots as their only known quantities are him and the Shull kid. Nevada is ok and plays in a bad league so they likely will have a pretty good record. Clear Lake will be good again but also plays a bad schedule so I figure they will have an impressive record as well. Knoxville has brothers that are nice players and will likely win that league. They have a new coach after quite the summer (newly hired HC resigned early July). I would put them in a group that is not quite as good as their record reflects (much like Nevada). Pella will be good and I'm glad we get to scrimmage them twice this year since they are not on our schedule. As you may know Assumption lost Navon Shabazz to the Iowa United prep program. Their offensive rebounding athletic wing player, Kayvion Hodges, went back to Muscatine (I think). They did however get a move in from across the state line. I do not know his name but according to Prep hoops he is a long wing that can kind of do it all. I am not sure about their depth so I could see another season like last. They take some losses playing 4A teams but in reality are one of the best 3A teams out there, especially if they aren't tired or in foul trouble.

Preseason Basketball Prospectus : Entry # 47604

My guess is that, in our league, us and ADM will find our way to the top. Boone only loses a senior that scored 16 point total last season. Carlisle returns a good bit of production as well. This should make each of them a tougher game than in the past. In other words, I feel like on any given night in our league either team has a chance to win. I believe Boone is leaving for the Hear of Iowa after this year. In the 6 years I have been here it seems that the competitiveness between conferences is growing apart as opposed to there being more parity. That probably does not help much in this perspective but it's just an observation (maybe an inaccurate one). In an interesting event North Polk dropped DCG this year and the word on the street is that some people feel like when we schedule outside of the RRC we need to schedule potentially less competitive games as opposed to opponents that are really good. I am curious about this as well. We have kept Norwalk and DCG on our schedule and do not have any plans to change. However, on any given year I just do not want an extra loss or two to hurt us when it comes to seeding. Obviously it can really help as well if we are to win those games. I guess what I am curious about is how much strength of schedule comes into consideration. Not only for 1 and 2 seeds but even the rest of the seeding. Getting a home game or two or three is a really big deal. I appreciate the work everyone puts into it.

We will be inexperienced, and lack seniors (one returning), but have a hungry junior group ready to make their mark on the program. How quickly we assimilate to Varsity basketball and getting scouting be our key to success this year. Having had some pretty good teams the last couple of years, we will get everyone's best shot.

6. Connor Leyden (Sr., started 1 game last year, 1.0ppg, 2.0rpg, was out for rest of season in 2nd game of year last year with injury).

We were very young last year but lost quite a few close games and really competed well even though we finished with only 6 wins. We are returning everyone in our rotation except for 1 starter. This group should be much improved this year.

Key players that graduated or are not on this year's team

1. Roman Roth (8.3ppg, 3.0 rpg, 2.4 apg)

Newcomers to your team (Incoming freshmen or transfer students)

None- We return everyone except 1 senior and are adding a few role players from our JV team last year to create a very deep team.

Teams from your area and same class that we should keep an eye on

1. CCA- They have everyone returning except for Hardy.
2. Pella- Return a lot from their state tournament quarterfinal team.

Preseason Basketball Prospectus : Entry # 47719

3. Davenport Assumption- Defending state champs, and return quite a few from that team.
4. Keokuk- Return Clark (7'0" that will make it difficult to guard).
